HARDING MAY VETO BONUS MEASURE

President Pat on Sales Tax or no Compensation

BRINGS STATE OF CONFUSION

Entire Question Thrown Back on Rock of Uncertainty

(BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT) WASHINGTON — (United Press) — The soldier bonus situation in congress was again in a state of confusion today, altho Republican members of the ways and means committee have agreed on a compensation measure.

The few words which President Harding let drop to newspapermen at the White House, framing what many regarded as a formal notice that he would veto the certificate bonus plan, if it is passed by congress, has thrown the entire bonus question back to the rocks of uncertainty—exactly where it has been for the past two months.

The house bonus framers today were anxiously seeking private word from the executive, as to just what he meant when he said that he "stands pat" on the proposition of "sales tax or no bonus."

Some of the congressmen believe the president intended it to clearly indicate his disapproval of the measure on the certificate plan. Others, however, among them Representative Longworth, who is as close to Harding perhaps as any one in congress, disagrees.

"What the president really said," Longworth told the United Press today, "was that he stands exactly where he has always stood—that is—that if the bonus has to be financed, it must be financed by a sales tax. The present bonus bill requires no financing at the present time, and there is no reason to believe the president will oppose it."

Others held Harding meant to express his opposition to the loan plan in the bill.

"Passage of the soldier bonus bill will have effect of dragging the soldier from the proud pedestal he now occupies into the labor market, there to adjust his compensation upon the basis of some gas-fitter or ditch-digger," Representative Knight, of Oregon, told the house today in a speech opposing the bonus.

SITUATION PROBLEMATIC WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — After weeks of work and worry, the house ways and means committee majority has evolved a "soldier bonus" bill on which it apparently intends to stand pat.

Despite some criticism of the measure in and out of congress, Chairman Fordney and his co-workers believe it will encounter only comparatively feeble opposition in the house unless there is an unexpected reaction against the great majority of members who have been insistent that some sort of bonus legislation be enacted at this session.

Just what will happen to the bill in the senate appears at this time to be more or less problematic. There the measures will be open to amendment and also to unlimited debate and it is regarded as more than probable that it will be subjected to change in some important particulars. Since President Harding advised the house committee to pay the bonus with a sales tax or postpone the legislation it is expected that sales tax proponents in the senate will renew their fight for that kind of a levy.

Some opponents of the measure in the house predicted that the bill would be unsatisfactory to both the country and the service men. They contended that it would not enable the men to get the cash in hand, three years as they would have received under the original cash plan and that the proposed advances to the banks, if made, would inflate credits to the extent of half a billion or more dollars over the period of the bank loans, thus increasing living costs.

BACK FORD OFFER

Southern Congressmen Act on Muscle Shoals Proposal

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Southern members of congress, headed by the Alabama delegation, appeared in a body before the house military committee today and there Representatives Oliver, Bankhead and Almon, all of Alabama, appealed for the prompt acceptance of the Henry Ford offer for purchase and lease of the Muscle Shoals government owned properties.

Memorials were presented by Representative Oliver in an endeavor to show that the people of Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas and Texas were united in support of Mr. Ford's offer and equally as solidly opposed to the offer of the Alabama Power company. The power company was reported as a "foreign owned monopoly" by Representative Oliver, who read a memorial signed by Alabama citizens, declaring it would be a travesty on legislation "if the nation's greatest water power project should be handed over to this monopoly."

SHAKE-UP OF POLICE?

Bingham Admits Complaints Are Filed

While he denied rumors that he had asked for the resignation of 12 members of the Lima police force, City Manager Bingham admitted Wednesday that a shake-up in the department may come, following investigation of complaints in his hands.

Bingham admitted that among the men he has questioned concerning complaints are: Chief Morton F. Dawson; Willis Kipker, detective, and acting captain; Webb Harrison, patrolman, and Ray C. Blair, patrolman.

The nature of complaints upon which Bingham is working was not disclosed. He said he had talked with the officers named, but said formal charges have not been filed. He was inclined to discount the matter and intimated that up to the present time the facts in his hands are not sufficiently serious to warrant a general shake-up. What further investigation may disclose, he was unable to say.

The manager said no steps have been taken to put a number of the older men on the pension list. A meeting of the police pension fund trustees has been called for Wednesday afternoon. It is not known what action will be taken at that time.

The creation of a more extensive eligible list for policemen has been asked but a date has not been set for an examination, it was said Wednesday.

The creation of a more extensive eligible list for policemen has been asked but a date has not been set for an examination, it was said Wednesday.

Bingham announced some time ago that a new chief would be named. At that time he said the new man would not be the present incumbent nor ex-Chief O. J. Roush. He named certain qualifications the man must have.

Since that time practically nothing has been done along that line and Dawson has continued to hold the office under the title of "Acting Chief."

SISTER OF SLAIN MAN GRILLED

Mrs. Jeanne Kershaw Admits Sooty Had Cylinder of Opium

MOTHER SOBS OVER HAROLD

Sight of Bloody Clothing Affects Widow of Kershaw

WAPAKONETA. — (Staff Special) — Harold Nierengarten, Lima youth, charged with the murder of Joseph Scott Kershaw, appeared in better physical condition Wednesday morning than at the close of the day on Tuesday, after his strenuous experience in court.

He passed a good night, Sheriff Bob Ewing said and ate a hearty breakfast soon after arising at 7 a. m. While he appeared haggard, Nierengarten, had recovered somewhat and was not apparently nervous.

CROWDS ASSEMBLE EARLY Three auto loads of people arrived at the court house at 5:30 a. m. Joseph Sell, the janitor said, and by 7 a. m. the court room was crowded to the point of standing room only. The crowd attending the trial Wednesday morning was estimated at 500, an increase of 150 over that of Tuesday.

Numerous persons ate their breakfast in the court room, in order that they might retain their seats at vantage points. Many others, arriving later, brought their noon luncheon along.

The trial was reopened at 9:22 a. m., by Judge J. D. Barnes. The prisoner was brought into the court room at 9:15 by Sheriff Ewing.

A DRAMATIC INCIDENT Mrs. Louise Nierengarten, of Lima, his mother, came in a few minutes later. There was a repetition of the dramatic moment of Tuesday when Mrs. Nierengarten again threw her arms about Harold, kissed him and sobbed: "Oh, my boy! 'Oh, Harold!'"

The stricken mother was accompanied by another son, Leo Nierengarten and by her daughter Louise.

The young prisoner was very much affected.

P. A. Kershaw, father of the slain man, who was on the stand Tuesday afternoon, was recalled by the state. He was asked by Prosecuting Attorney Karl Timmermeister as to the correct name of the man killed.

The answer was, "Joseph Scott Kershaw."

W. W. CRAIG CALLED Walter W. Craig, Allen-co commissioner, was next called. He testified that he was a uncle of Joseph Scott Kershaw, that he last saw him about a week before he was murdered; that he saw and identified the body in Sidney after it had been removed from the death car on the D. & O. railroad on November 20.

Craig stated that Kershaw was a frequent caller at the home of his grandmother in Lafayette.

Helen Kershaw, 16, sister of the murder victim, testified that for three weeks previous to Kershaw's death she had resided with her brother and sister-in-law at 214 1-2 W. High-st; that on the Saturday before his death she went to the home of her grandmother in Lafayette. She returned Sunday evening and found Dennis Winfree, a pal of her brother, at the Kershaw home.

The witness testified that he had been employed by the Siferd-Hosselman Co. up to November 8, 1921, and that Scotty Kershaw had previously been employed with him, as a "battery man."

SOUGHT TO BORROW MONEY Winfree stated that at no time had he ever seen opium or other narcotics at the Kershaw home. Said he was with Kershaw on the Saturday preceding his death and that he visited banks, where Scotty tried to borrow money, but was refused. They were turned down by bankers. Winfree said. He went to Lafayette with Scotty on the previous day, Friday, but could not remember distinctly just what they did there. He saw Scotty the last time on Saturday, Winfree said.

On Saturday, he was with Kershaw when they met Nierengarten. Winfree testified Scotty displayed a roll of bills to Harold and later the money came into view again when Kershaw bought some cigarettes, he said. He deposited some money at the Metropolitan bank Saturday, Winfree said, but had funds left.

Winfree testified that Kershaw had received whisky from Toledo at times, only a few quarts. He admitted that on one occasion he and Harold and Scotty had taken drinks at Kershaw's flat. On several occasions, he said, Scotty called Harold aside and they talked confidentially. He did not know what they were talking about.

BANKER ON STAND George McHaffey, cashier of the Metropolitan bank, testified that on November 18 Scotty had cashed a check at the bank for $93.44, in favor of his father, P. A. Kershaw, that it was not an unusual thing for members of the Kershaw family to cash checks for P. A. Kershaw.

Miss Agnes Horrihan, a book-keeper at the bank, stated that on November 19 Scotty deposited part of the money, in the name of P. A. Kershaw.

LODGE WARNS OF PACT FAILURE

Senate Must Choose 4-Ply Treaty or War, He Says

"NAVY CUT DEPENDS ON IT"

Declares Rejection Would Nullify Arms Parley Work

(BY LAWRENCE MARTIN)

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — Senator Lodge today declared the senate must choose between the four-power Pacific treaty with naval limitation and peace, or a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, unlimited naval competition and war.

In a speech urging ratification of the four-power Pacific pact, Lodge said its acceptance is the only means of ending the Anglo-Japanese alliance and of making possible the naval holiday provided for in the 5-5-3 treaty. Defeat of the treaty, Lodge said, would mean failure of the arms conference.

He left the inference that the United States could not ratify the naval limitation treaty if the four-power Pacific pact were not approved because the Anglo-Japanese alliance then would confront a reduced American navy.

CLARIFY ALLIANCES

The treaty, Lodge said, substitutes "the assurance of peace for the arrangements and calculations of war." At the same time, it keeps the United States "clear of all alliances of any sort, which are in their very nature ultimate breeders of war and which always have hidden behind them penalties and force."

Lodge denied that the pact imposes on the United States any obligation "except to meet with the other signatories and consult in case of any controversy arising or in case of aggression by some outside power not a signatory."

"Let me first say," began Lodge "that the American delegation was united in the desire to secure results from the conference which would promote the peace of the world, reduce in some measure the burdens of taxation imposed by the existence of armies and fleets, and the competition in armaments and protect the future peace and safety of the United States."

THREE OBJECTIVES

The three objectives sought and attained, he said, were ending of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, naval limitations and peace for China. "The present treaty," he said, "ends the alliance which was the most dangerous element in our relations with the Far East. The alliance caused a growing feeling of suspicion not only in the United States, but in Canada. On the other side, it tended to give a background to Japan which encouraged the war spirit. It immobilized England and prevented exercise of her influence in the east for peace."

"Removal of the alliance created the situation in which it was possible to bring about an agreement for reduction of naval armament."

"While that alliance existed, reduction of naval armament was difficult, if not impossible. Senators should bear in mind that the defeat of the four-power treaty would endanger the treaty for the limitation of naval armament and the failure of the naval treaty would shock and startle the world and bitterly disappoint the American people. The failure of the four-power treaty would mean the failure of the conference. Let there be no illusion on that point."

EXPERIMENT WORK

The work of the arms conference is only an experiment, Lodge said. "But I have faith," he added, "to believe that the better instincts of mankind are all with us in effort. If we continued to preach suspicion and hatred of other nations; if we decline to deal with them and believe them all actuated by the basest of motives, nothing can ever be done."

"The United States have never permitted failure or defeat to be written in her history. She will not permit it now."

Politics did not enter into the deliberations of the American delegation, Lodge said.

GIRL KIDNAPPED POLICE THINK

2,100 GALLONS OF WHISKY TAKEN

Maryland Warehouse Guards Overpowered by Robbers

FREDERICK, Md. — (Associated Press) — Overpowering three guards and smashing down doors, a gang of liquor robbers, believed to have numbered thirty, early today escaped with 2,100 gallons of whisky from the warehouse at Burkittsville, near here, of the Outbridge Horse Distillery Company, Inc.

The value of the liquor stolen was estimated by representatives of the company at $35,000. The whisky, contained in barrels, was loaded into three trucks and several automobiles.

One of the trucks containing several barrels later was found seven miles from the warehouse, the robbers having been forced to abandon it after an accident.

The robbery today was the second in seven months, about twenty men having broken into the warehouse last September 9, and removed 1,100 cases of whisky valued at $45,000. Some arrests were later made but no convictions obtained.

U. S. REFUSES SEAT AT GENOA MEET

Will Not Participate in the Economic Conference

VIEWED AS EUROPEAN AFFAIR

Russian Envoys to Assume Defiant Attitude

(BY A. L. BRADFORD)

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — The United States government within the next 24 hours will announce that it will not participate in the forthcoming Genoa economic conference, it was learned here today.

This announcement is expected to be made in a note worked out by President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes which will be a reply to the invitation from Italy for the United States to take part in the conference.

The American government may state its willingness to send an official observer to the economic conference, scheduled to open on April 10, but such a course, it is pointed out, would not involve any active participation by this country.

In the reply to the Genoa invitation this government probably will set forth its views regarding the conference. While the United States holds deep sympathy for any sincere effort to remedy the economic situation of Europe, it is held the proposed work of the Genoa conference is solely of European concern.

RUSSIAN ATTITUDE

MOSCOW — (United Press) — Soviet Russia will send a delegation to the Genoa economic conference with the following proposals and demands:

1.—An international loan to Russia of $500,000,000.

2.—European reconstruction to be accomplished by Russia supplying raw materials in exchange for foreign credit.

3.—Germany must be permitted to co-operate freely with Russia.

4.—The league of nations must not be forced upon Russia or the central empires.

PAYMENT FOR DAMAGES A fifth Russian demand, namely for payment for damages caused by the vain conquests of Kolchak and Denikin, will be incorporated in a soviet promise to pay the debts of former Russian governments.

It is with a business program of this sort that Bolshevik envoys will appear at the council table at Genoa April 10. Proposals of the delegates will be materialistic and nationalistic—but not communistic. The "international" idea will be left in Moscow.

The Russian delegation, while recognizing it must of necessity take a comparatively minor place at Genoa, has received its instructions not to submit to dictation. Rather than that, Russia's late enemies, France among them, should be allowed to dictate terms, the Kremlin's envoys are to withdraw.

A clear outline of the soviet's demands, which may, when presented at the conference table, surprise allied statesmen, was given the United Press by a high authority.

The Kremlin intends that the economic conference shall arrange a big international loan to Russia.

OUTSIDERS APPLY FOR JOB AS POLICE CHIEF IN LIMA

Bingham Says Little Progress Made in Selection—Lima Men In Race, But No Written Applications

From Them Are On File

City Manager Bingham said Wednesday that no progress has been made toward selecting a new chief of police for Lima, altho he was commencing to receive applications from persons outside of the city who want the job.

Among the outsiders under consideration are: Thomas A. Lanker, former Dayton police lieutenant, and George L. Lauer, Kenton detective, and former member of the Chicago police.

Lanker, was in command of police at Wilbur Wright Field during the World War. He is a former soldier. Manager Bingham stated that he had been expecting a personal visit from Lanker, for several days past, but that he had not shown up. He is 41.

Lauer, in a letter to Manager Bingham, says he is 35 years old, and a native of Illinois. He is working as a sleuth for a Kenton bank. He says that for 12 years he served with Chicago police. During half of that period he was detailed to the State Attorney's office.

Whether either of these men will be selected, is not determined, Bingham said.

"I don't know myself," he said. Bingham said that there were some local applicants in the race, but that he has no written application from any of them.

No interviews were held with candidates Wednesday, he said.

TRACED BY MONEY

$50 Bills Furnish Clues To Missing Philadelphia Treasurer

PHILADELPHIA — (Associated Press) — Fifty dollar bills used in his flight from this city have furnished the principal clues in the nationwide search for Walter A. Unger, wanted in connection with the disappearance of securities worth approximately $190,000 from the Dr. Thomas W. Evans Dental Institute and Museum Fund of the University of Pennsylvania. Most of the money is believed by the authorities to have been lost in stock speculation.

Private detectives working on the case said today that Unger, who was assistant treasurer of the fund, had drawn $12,000 belonging to the dental institute the day he disappeared and that he had gotten the cashier of the bank to give him the entire amount in bills of the fifty dollar denomination. Most of the new bills which the detectives said, had aided them materially in their hunt.

SHIP IN DISTRESS

MOBILE, Ala. — (United Press) — The shipping board steamer Bayon Chico was badly damaged in a collision at the mouth of the Mobile river here today. Two tugs have been sent to the vessel's assistance.

Laid out in a straight line, the court would be one-fourth block in length, which means the laddies will be required to trot four blocks per day.

Plenty of time will be given the gym exercises to soak in, the chief said, and when the indoor track is put in operation his department will be the best-trained physically of any department anywhere.

Mack has come to the conclusion that music is a vital necessity in his plans. He will have to have something better than do-re-mi-fa-sol-a-se-do because that tune travels up-grade only.

There has to be something here, with a lot of pep to it, to synchronize the leg muscles of his boys. "Thus he plans to haul the venerable clavi-chord from the dust of the workroom and have some tunes reeled off that descend as well as transcend," he said.

Arrangements for firemen's classes were completed Wednesday morning by J. G. Maxwell, physical director of the Y. The day shift will take them Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5 p. m. and the night shift Mondays and Fridays at 11:45 a. m.

It was proposed to split the force for work-outs Mondays and Thursdays and Wednesdays and Saturdays but the latter day was found impossible because all firemen work 21 hours then.

ONE DEAD, TWO MISSING IN FIRE

Cheboygan, Mich., Business Section Swept by Flames

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. — (Associated Press) — One man is dead, two boys are missing and a large part of Cheboygan's business district is in ruins as the result of a fire that destroyed a part of the downtown section this forenoon.

Early estimates placed the financial loss at more than $500,000 with indications it might reach $1,000,000.

Frank J. Hoyer, a baker, was burned to death when he entered his shop to recover his effects.

Elmer Wing, 13, and Edward Lawry, 10, are believed to have been caught beneath falling walls.

The fire started in the furnace room of the Frost block, a four-story structure, and in a short time had swept thru four blocks destroying a score or more of business establishments.

MISSION HOUSE BURNS

CINCINNATI — (Associated Press) — Three Catholic clergymen, the Rev. R. N. Wagner, F. A. Cressie and T. A. Thill, had a narrow escape from death early today when fire damaged their mission house in Walnut Hills to the extent of about $3,500.

Fathers Cressie and Thill had to grope their way thru dense smoke from their bedrooms on the second floor of the building down the stairs to the street. Father Wagner's exit from his bedroom was cut off by flames everywhere except a window.

He had to climb thru it to a porch roof and then slide down a post to the ground.

TRIAL DATE SET

Tex Rickard to Face Assault Charge March 20

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — Trial of Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, on an indictment charging criminal assault upon Alice Ruck, 15-year-old school girl, today was set for March 20. Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel took under advisement motion by Rickard's counsel to dismiss the indictment.

"REDUCE TO MUSIC"—NEW WORK FOR LADDIES

Tramp, tramp, tramp. Puff, puff, "Quit shoving, fellows, and shake a leg there. You only made the last lap in two-four."

Thus may Fire Chief John Mack urge on his gallant fire laddies in the "indoor marathon," which he plans at Central engine house, E. High-st, after the physical training exercises at the Y. M. C. A. are completed.

Mack has mapped out a course up-stairs and down-stairs which each fire fighter must run 16 times per day—to improve their wind.

"They will start on the second floor in the loafing roof, trot thru the "boudoir," workroom and "hay-mow" (sleeping quarters), slide down the pole to the first floor, run up the stairs and start over again," the chief said.

But not all this will be pure physical exertion. They will be caught up in the rhythm of sweet strains from an old battered baby grand piano on the second floor donated to the department, ages ago by a musically-inclined philanthropist.

The chief plans to have the piano tuned. He has not selected the chanty he will use, but a suggestion has been made for the aesthetic cadenzas of the "Maiden's Prayer."

Laid out in a straight line, the court would be one-fourth block in length, which means the laddies will be required to trot four blocks per day.

Plenty of time will be given the gym exercises to soak in, the chief said, and when the indoor track is put in operation his department will be the best-trained physically of any department anywhere.

Mack has come to the conclusion that music is a vital necessity in his plans. He will have to have something better than do-re-mi-fa-sol-a-se-do because that tune travels up-grade only.

There has to be something here, with a lot of pep to it, to synchronize

STRIKE WILL HIT 250,000 OHIOANS

Effect of Threatened Mine Walk-out is Estimated

HOPE OF AVERTING IT FADES

Harding Fails in Attempt at Peace Conference

COLUMBUS.—(United Press).—Fifty-four thousand Ohio miners and their families, approximating 250,000 persons, will be affected in case the coal strike, threatened April 1, materializes, W. D. McKinney, secretary of the Southern Ohio Coal Exchange, estimated here today.

The miners, employed by about 850 Ohio mines, all of which are unionized, McKinney said, live mostly in the southern part of the state, with a few thousands scattered over the rest of Ohio.

Ohio will not be faced with a severe coal shortage in event of a strike, McKinney said, because of the non-union coal which can be imported from West Virginia.

Non-union mines produce almost one-third of the nation's coal, McKinney said.

PEACE PLANS FAIL.—(United Press).—Hope of averting the nation-wide coal strike faded materially today with failure of the operators and miners to respond to the suggestion of President Harding that the warring parties meet in conference before the walkout scheduled for April 1.

Secretary of Labor Davis, who issued the invitation, declared he had made "progress," but tacitly confessed the conference was far from a reality. It is believed the operators have failed to respond to the suggestions which were sent out nearly two weeks ago.

The general feeling in government circles now is that the strike will not be averted.

PREPARATIONS MADE.—Faith is still held by Davis that the opposing factions may consent to a national meeting. However, he sent out his suggestion nearly two weeks ago and only a few responses have been received.

The operators are understood to oppose the national conference on the ground that it is impractical.

The government can do nothing if the miners and operators refuse to meet in national conference, it is believed by officials here. The public will suffer no direct effects of the strike for several weeks due to preparations which have been made for the operation of non-union mines in case of a strike and the vast amount of coal which has been hoarded away by manufacturers and private individuals who "knew" the strike was coming on.

In event of a strike, the efforts of the federal government probably will be concentrated on protection of life and property, with continued assistance that the operators and miners get together and settle their differences.

WORKERS WILL ATTEND PARLEY

(BY JOHN L. LEWIS)

INDIANAPOLIS.—(United Press).—The United Mine Workers of America, will enter a conference with the operators of the central competitive field, if such a conference is called by Secretary of Labor Davis. That has been the attitude all along and it will continue to be our position.

We have been ready ever since this controversy started to confer with the operators in an effort to reach an agreement, and the only reason this has not happened is that certain groups of operators have flatly and firmly refused to meet with the miners, although they agreed in writing in New York, March 31, 1920, that they would so meet prior to April 1, 1922.

ACTING POLICE CHIEF DENIES STORY OF BIG SHOES FOR LIMA COPS

Captain George Strick of the Lima police department, who is acting as chief while Morton F. Dawson is absent from the city, as a witness at the murder trial of Harold Nierengarten in Wapakoneta, denied Wednesday that any men on the force have feet so large as to require Nos. 12 and 14 shoesto accommodate them.

"We have No. 11 feet," Strick said, "but nothing larger than that. And all policemen are equipped."

It was whispered Tuesday some of the cops would have to gyrate in Y. M. C. A. gym exercises in their socks because oversized pedal extremities caused a delay in getting large enough shoes from the factory.

LIONS ARE TOLD OF CUSTOMS OF KOREANS

The life and customs of the people of Korea were described by Rev. P. A. Beck before the Lions Wednesday noon. Rev. Beck spent twenty years in that country and his talk was filled with first hand experiences. His son is now vice consul in Korea. The speaker told the Lions they should by all means hear Homer B. Hulbert, envoy to "his country from the Korean emperor, whom the Kiwanians club is bringing to Lima.

The Lions accepted the invitation of the Kiwanians to attend the meeting Tuesday evening. The regular Wednesday meeting will be held as usual with Lions Marshall and Means as a program committee.

EPWORTH IN LEAD

Lima Sunday School Stands First in Four-Square Campaign

Epworth M. E. Sunday School has come from the rear and has taken lead in the Four-Square campaign for Adult Bible classes of Allen-co, according to Director Kattner.

Central Church of Christ, Beaverdam, trails by 20 points this week, having a total of 2,821 while Epworth has 2,841. First Reformed, because of several deaths in prominent families of the school, lost second place, but still retains third with a total of 2,748 credits. Second Baptist still holds fourth place and Calvary Reformed fifth. However, Second M. E. is close on Calvary's heels. The Christian School of West Cairo made a fine showing and passes beyond three others in their standing. Because of incomplete reports, Grace M. E. could not be listed in the standing.

In individual class records the Market Street Brotherhood class still leads, with 3,770 credits, but indications seem to be that unless they put bleachers in their quarters they will not be able to take care of the continuous growth and may have to give way to some other class. Booster Bible clubched out notch by taking second place and letting the Gleasons down to third place. The Gleasons made a good showing in spite of the handicap of last week and are expected to come back strong next week and keep their steady gait to the front until Easter time.

The Market Street Brotherhood seems to have everything in its favor, yet they did show a weakness in making two points less gain this week than last, 707 as against 709 last week. And the wise ones point to this as the sinking of their star. The Loyal Women of Second Baptist are perched in second place for greatest gains for the week, with 620 credits. The Young Women of Epworth came third, with 614 points and with that gait may catch up with the brother and sister classes of the same churches.

Other classes are making fine showings and may soon come into the competition with the leaders. Director Kattner is of the opinion that the standings as they are now will not be final, for the campaign is only half over and some classes are just beginning to show signs of thoro organization of purpose and efforts. And the many of the classes cannot lead, yet they are going for 5,000 points in a twelve week campaign closing with Easter time. Many leaders report that the their classes are not leading, yet the gain in numbers, interest and efficiency is so marked they have only the highest commendation for the same and give it their hearty support.

THINK PRESENT TIME BEST

Don't Like Idea of Waiting Until Death

MUNCIE, IND.—(Associated Press).—If you have money to give away there is no time like the present, is the philosophy of Frank C. Ball. His three brothers hold the same thought and a fifth brother, now dead, held that theory during his life time. The four living brothers and the estate of the other brother have just given $1,000,000 for educational and welfare work. They operate an immense fruit jar manufacturing plant here.

BEST TIME NOW.—"We are giving this $1,000,000 because we believe it better to do such things while we are living than allow others to do it for us after we are dead," explained Frank C. Ball, who is president of the manufacturing plant. "Life at best is short and uncertain and the time for men who have it to do good with their money is when they can personally direct the use of it. Nobody has even found a way of taking his money with him to wherever he goes after he dies. We are glad to make these gifts to these institutions and for these purposes, not because we seek appreciation but because we believe it to be a good thing to do and because of the satisfaction we receive in knowing that we may be responsible to some slight extent in aiding humanity."

INSTITUTIONS AIDED.—The gifts were made in the names of Frank C. Ball, Edmund B. Ball, George A. Ball, Dr. Lucius L. Ball, and the estate of William C. Ball, and are to be distributed as follows:

For eastern division Indiana State Normal school located in Muncie, $250,000 to be used for additional buildings.

For public auditorium in Muncie, $150,000.

For permanent endowment Muncie Y. M. C. A., $100,000.

To Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Mich., as endowment, $100,000.

To James Whitcomb Riley Memorial Hospital for Children at Indianapolis, $25,000.

To Delaware County Tuberculosis Association for endowment, $25,000.

For building fund of Masonic Temple, $10,000.

For hospital extension work in Muncie, $100,000.

The remainder, amounting to $140,000, is to be disposed of in ways not yet ready for announcement.

COURT ORDERS SALE OF ALLEN MOTORS COMPANY

COLUMBUS.—Public sale of the Allen Motors company of Columbus, Bucyrus and Fostoria here on April 18, was ordered today by Federal Judge Sater.

The action followed a conference between Sater and Judge Westenhaver of the northern district last night, during which the decree was reread.

Judge Sater, in ordering the sale said today he found the company had three million individual debts and that outstanding debts totalled $2,200,000 and further liabilities $7,000,000. He placed the upset price at $500,000, although he estimated a larger amount might be realized at the public sale.

ROBBERY IS CONFESSED BY CINCINNATI MAN

CINCINNATI.—Within a few minutes after his capture by detectives, while he was calling upon his sweetheart last night, Jess England, 28, of this city, confessed to the police that he was one of the four highway robbers who stole the A. Nash Tailoring company payroll of $8,053, on January 24, and also that he was the man who had wounded Detective Joseph Meyer on February 25.

Detectives later arrested Richard Newhouse, 22, of Newport, Ky., and Charles Stagenberg, 34, of this city. Another man, whom England named is still at large. Newhouse is in the Newport jail, having refused to go to Ohio without requisition. Just before detectives arrested Newhouse in Newport, his wife accidentally wounded herself in the leg with her husband's revolver.

RAIN NEXT IN WEATHER PLANS

The weatherman's prediction of colder and snow came thru properly labeled, but the snow was ahead of schedule. Now that he has it out of his system, the forecaster is expected to settle down to predictions that are more springlike in their make-up.

As an evidence of this opinion, the outlook for the current day is given in the form of fair tonight; Thursday increasing cloudiness and warmed, probably followed by rain.

Whether 'twill be a cold freezing rain, chilling the populace to the marrow, or whether it will be warm and an incentive for buds to grow and burst, remains to be seen.

However, the season of the year when frequent rains may be expected is at hand and 'twill be wise for owners of umbrellas to take stock of their possessions in that respect. The conclusion is forced that the best thing to lay away for a rainy day is an umbrella.

TRIAL NEARS END

Argument is Begun in the Wittman Murder Case

HAMILTON.—(Associated Press).—Self-defense and the unwritten law were pleaded by attorneys for the defense today in the trial of Lou J. Wittman, tent and awning dealer, who was indicted for first degree murder after he shot and killed Harry Hamman, garage owner, November 14. Testimony was completed yesterday, Wittman and his wife being among the witnesses.

Mrs. Wittman testified she was in an automobile with Hamman when Wittman drove up. Hamman's automobile ran into the curb and Wittman approached him with the question, "What does this mean?" according to Mrs. Wittman's testimony.

"I'll show you what it means," Hamman replied, the witness declared, and she described a motion that Hamman made with his right hand as if he were seeking to draw a weapon from his hip pocket.

The court room has been packed each day since the case was called on February 27. A jury was not accepted until noon of the fourth day.

PRESIDENT SEES BIG RELIEF

Harding Writes Relative to Government Aid to Farmers

WASHINGTON.—(United Press).—Millions of dollars loaned by the government to hard-pressed farmers are bringing about noticeable relief in the agricultural industries, President Harding disclosed in a letter to Eugene Meyer, director of the war finance corporation, today.

The president urged Meyer to extend his financial relations with cooperative marketing organizations. Harding pointed out regretfully that the low farm prices have not been reflected in a lowered cost of living and asserted restoration of general business stability cannot come "without the establishment of an equitable relation between the producers selling price and the cost to the consumer."

Information given the president by Meyer shows that to the end of February the war finance corporation had advanced $37,500,000 to assist the export of farm products. Applications for loans from banks catering to farmers aggregate $178,500,000 and applications for loan from cooperative marketing organizations $58,200,000.

"We are making splendid progress toward disposition of our agricultural difficulties," the president said in his letter.

GHOST SECRET IS SNOW-BOUND

HALIFAX, N. S.—(United Press).—The secret of the Antigonish ghost still was snow-bound on the haunted MacDonald farm today.

Word from Dr. Franklin Prince, American Institute of Scientific Research, who spent last night with the ghost was eagerly awaited. Flash broadcast to a waiting world official information as to whether the ghost was spook or spoof.

The morning wore on and no word came.

Up north, beyond bleak miles of snow-clad plains, Dr. Prince with strings on his fingers and bells atached, was known to have retired last night to await the unearthly visitor, whose manifestations have aroused scientific and other interests thruout the world.

The investigator's last words before he retired in the lonely, white-shrouded farm house, were a warning to his comrades on the ghost hunt not to expect too much. Startling conclusions might not be attained, he said. He left the address of a near relative with the reporters and entered the haunted chamber—whether to sleep or not, rested entirely with the ghost.

Dr. O'Neill said today there had been other reports of plesiosaurus being seen in the region where Martin Sheffield, an Englishman, claims to have discovered one.

This remote region, miles from a railroad, is known as the graveyard of the Jurassic period in which the plesiosaurus and other relics of the age of giant monsters such as the Ichthyosaurus and the sea dinosaur, Dr. O'Neill believes it possible that one or more plesiosuri may still be living in that lost world among the fossilized bones of his contemporaries—a methuselah of antediluvian days.

GERMANS AFRAID OF WORLD BANK

Senator Owen's Plan Commented On in Berlin

BERLIN.—(Associated Press).—The plan of Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, for the establishment of an American federal reserve foreign bank has been carefully considered by German bankers, financiers and industrial leaders who admit an interest in the suggestion, but have generally reserved expressions of opinion as to its practicability.

Senator Owen, who has been making a tour of Europe to determine the attitude of continental statesmen and business men toward his proposal, has advocated the establishment of a banking institution with a capital of 500,000,000 gold to supply Europe with a gold basis for a medium of exchange for international and domestic business.

"Senator Owen's proposal can be of real interest to Germany," said Herbert Gutmann, director of the Dresden Bank, "only if it is recognized by the Genoa conference or if later an intelligent working plan for German reparations and obligations is clearly defined. His European bank assuredly carries danger in countries of low money valuations as it will establish the American dollar as a standard of currency to the injury of those nations. This will result in price levels being immediately boosted to the level of word prices, thus bringing on a new economic convulsion."

DOPE RING PROBE STARTED IN NIERENGARTEN MURDER TRIAL

Witnesses Quizzed in Nierengarten Murder Trial

DRAMATIC SCENES IN COURT

Widow of Joseph Scott Kershaw On Witness Stand

Nierengarten, When Blair was asked by Prosecuting Attorney Timmermeister what state he came from, Blair smiled and replied "Ohio." The humor of the question caught Nierengarten and he also smiled, the first time during the morning.

CONFESSION RECALLED

Nierengarten confessed the killing of Kershaw, Blair said, on Friday, November 25, in the living room of the residence of the sheriff of Auglaize-co in Wapakoneta. Later in the day the shorthand notes were written out, Blair said, the confession was read to Harold and he signed it. The confession was not presented to the jury, but it was announced by the prosecutor that it would be taken up later.

Mrs. Jeanne Kershaw, widow of Scotty, was recalled. She admitted that on the Friday previous to his death, when he returned from Lafayette, Scotty transferred a small package from one pocket to another. She recognized it as a cylinder of opium, she said. On Saturday morning, according to the witness, while Nierengarten was at their home, Scotty produced the package of dope. Nierengarten opened it, smelled the contents and returned it to Scotty.

RECOGNIZED DOPE PACKAGE

Mrs. Kershaw stated that she recognized the package as one she had previously seen at the home of John Marsh, in Lafayette, a revenue inspector, now deputy internal revenue collector from this district. How the package of dope came into the possession of Kershaw was not disclosed by testimony.

Court adjourned for the noon recess at 11:30 a. m.

PRISONER MORE CHEERFUL

Returning to the court room at 1 p. m., accompanied by his mother, sister and brother and the sheriff, Nierengarten was more cheerful Wednesday afternoon. He talked and joked with his mother for a few minutes, before the trial was resumed.

Court stenographer Clifford Blair was recalled and quizzed concerning a preliminary confession Nierengarten was alleged to have made in Lima on November 25, at the police station, in the presence of Blair, Chief of Police Dawson and Prosecutor Karl Timmermeister.

Timmermeister was placed on the stand and was quizzed by counsel for the defense. Timmermeister testified that no promises or threats had been made to the prisoner and when the prosecutor was asked if he had struck Nierengarten during the questioning in Lima, he admitted that he had touched him as he sat apparently dazed in a chair, to arouse the boy to get him to answer a question. There was no violence about it, Timmermeister said.

Chief of Police Dawson also testified that no promises or threats had been made to Nierengarten. He agreed to confess, Dawson said, if he was given a cup of coffee. The boy had previously asked for food, Dawson said.

SAW NO NARCOTICS

Nierengarten came in later, she said, and asked if Scotty was at home. When told that he had not returned, Nierengarten insisted that he was somewhere about the house, Helen said. His insistence that Kershaw was in the house was continued, she said.

When queried concerning whisky in the house, Helen said she never saw more than a quart there at any one time. She never saw opium or other narcotics about the house, she said. Only once had she seen anyone given a drink in the Kershaw home. That was when Dennis Winfree was offered liquor, she said.

Winfree was next called to the stand. He said he had been making his home with his sister and brother-in-law at 854 W. High-st.

MAY PLEAD INSANITY

Insanity, it is very evident, will be the final plea former Judge C. A. Stueve, counsel for Harold Nierengarten, of Lima, who is on trial here charged with the murder of Joseph Scott Kershaw, also of Lima, November 20, 1921, will base his hopes of saving the defendant from the electric chair, the penalty which Prosecuting Attorney Karl Timmermeister asks.

"I believe that Harold Nierengarten's mind is constituted peculiarly and we have the right to plead irresponsibility on his part," Judge Stueve declared in a preliminary address to the jury just before the examination of witnesses began. "He is not of such a mind as to be responsible of crime, if any has been committed by him."

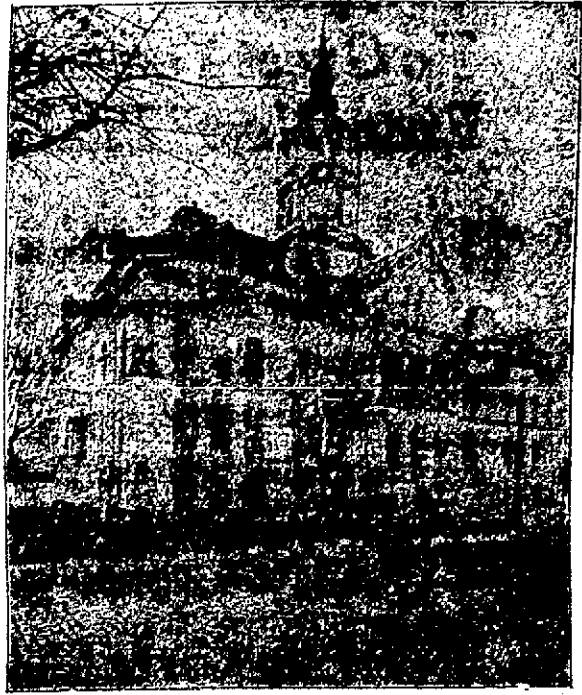

JURORS ARE NAMED

Immediately after the jury had been sworn in at 1:45 p. m. Tuesday, the court recessed for a time. Judge Joseph D. Barnes, who is hearing the case, gave a warning to jurors, instructing them not to talk to anyone outside the court room, nor to be influenced by outsiders. He urged that they report anyone who tried to influence them in their opinion and he would see that severe punishment was meted out.

A long list of witnesses was then called and sworn in. Judging from the number, the trial promises to be a long-drawn out affair. These were sworn in: Leo Nierengarten, Mrs. Louise Nierengarten and daughter Louise, Mrs. L. Frua, William N. Walker, Edward May, Bob Ewing, Cliff Blair, Morald Miller, William Kayser, M. William Hamilton, Cliff Shaw, D. L. Matchette, R. G. Herrmann, Esther Stahl, Charles Radabaugh, Robert Ross, C. I. Jamison, John Craft, Reid McCoy, Chris Schuppert, Clarence Sowers, Joseph Lehman, O. B. Zeller, Dr. Lester Pepper, F. W. Clark, Edith L. Brown, M. F. Dawson, Ross Landfair, C. W. Baxter, Gene Kershaw, P. A. Kershaw, W. W. Cralc, Leonard McDonald, George Saliff, Helen Kershaw, Roy Bowersock, John Marsh, Jr., John Marsh, Sr., and W. J. King.

Many were given seats in the court room while others, because of lack of room, were ordered to remain just outside, subject to immediate call.

WIDOW TESTIFIES

Mrs. Gene Kershaw, 18-year-old widow of the slain man, was the first witness called by Prosecuting Attorney Karl Timmermeister. She was on the stand considerably over an hour. Several times she broke down and cried, her condition once being such that she appeared about to faint.

Mrs. Kershaw told the court she first met her husband, the slain man, while she was working in Toledo. They were married three weeks after this initial meeting, she declared.

On November 29, 1920, the wedding taking place at Kershaw's grandmother's home in Lafayette. She says they resided at 214 1-2 W. High st. Lima, at the time of his murder. The clothes which the slain man wore at the time of his death were produced. Mrs. Kershaw, at sight of the bloody apparel, broke down, weeping. It was with difficulty that she answered the lawyer's questions and she turned her head away from sight of the clothing.

Scarcely a whisper could be heard in the room as the victim's clothes, piece by piece, were shown to the widow.

"Is this his hat?" asked the prosecutor, taking a black felt hat out of a box which had previously been placed near the witness stand. Mrs. Kershaw gave one brief glance at the hat, her eyes quickly filled with tears, and she murmured, "yes." Then an overcoat, fur collar, a brown shirt and under garments stained with blood were shown her. To the question: "Did these belong to Scotty?" asked her as each garment was taken from the box, shown her and placed on a table near by, she answered in the affirmative. Even the shoes the victim wore the fatal day were brought into court.

Mrs. Kershaw recited how the friendship between the youth charged with slaying Kershaw and her husband was cultivated. The week before the slaying Nierengarten took dinner at the Kershaw home, she said, and frequently he would call there after her husband, usually after 9 a. m. The two would go out of the house together, she testified.

Considerable "red tape" involved the quiz given Mrs. Kershaw by Prosecutor Timmermeister and the counsel for the defense, former Judge Stueve. Judge Barnes struck out a number of minor questions for the testimony, which he declared had no direct bearing on the case.

HUSBAND SOLD WHISKY

A climax came when Mrs. Kershaw, in answer to a question asked by Judge Stueve as to how they lived after her husband had been out of work for quite a time previous to his death, exclaimed that he sold whisky. She said he had sold it on a small scale, never having more than a quart in their home at a time. She said he did it because he was out of work and had only a little money (furnished him by his father, P. A. Kershaw).

She testified that on the Friday previous to the day he was murdered he went to the postoffice and took a check for over $95 out of his father's mail box. He had been in the habit of doing this, it seems, and depositing the money in a Lima bank for his father, who is in the railway postal service and is home every other week.

"On the day he received this check," Mrs. Kershaw said, "he came home with around $93 in cash and showed me what a roll he had. I urged him to put it in a bank."

She testified that "Scottie's" sister, Miss Helen, and Nierengarten were at their home that day. Miss Helen Kershaw, young sister of "Scottie" was a frequent guest of her brother and herself.

In stating that he sold liquor on a small scale, Mrs. Kershaw said that as far as she knew, Nierengarten and Dennis Winfree, another youth who frequently called at the Kershaw home seeking her husband, did not peddle booze.

P. A. KERSHAW ON STAND

P. A. Kershaw, father of the slain boy, was next called on the witness stand at 4:40 p. m. after counsel had given Mrs. Kershaw a thorough cross-examination.

The senior Kershaw said that he had frequently given his son small amounts of money, from $5 to $10, since he was out of work the two months previous to his being slain, and that he had given him the key to the postoffice box in order that he might receive his check which was sent him on the first and sixteenth of every month. This check, the father said, the boy deposited for him in a Lima bank.

The key was introduced in evidence, both Mrs. Kershaw and the boy's father identifying it as the key to the postoffice box. The check for over $93 which young Kershaw said he had received on the Friday before he was slain was also shown to the father, who recognized it.

The next day after young Kershaw had received this check, it appears, a sum of $67 had been deposited in a Lima bank, but not the full amount of the check.

The two attorneys completed their inquiries of Mrs. Kershaw and the father of the boy at 5:10 p. m. when Judge Barnes called an adjournment. The regular time for adjourning was set for 9 p. m.

Judge Barnes gave a short talk, thanking the large crowd for its attentiveness and lack of noise during the trial. He instructed the jurors again not to discuss the case. They are not locked up, but were permitted to go to their homes for the night.

CROWD MORBIDLY CURIOUS

During the course of the day's proceedings, Judge Barnes was only called on a few times to rap for order. The court room literally swarmed with people. The majority were fairly old men and women;

Why March is Most Dangerous

March is the most dangerous month of the year because the change of season is more than a good many systems can stand. Too often it is true that the sick "last only till spring." But if fortified, if the impurities are driven from the system by the blood, and the nerve tissues fed with wholesome and strength-giving food, medicine, there is no danger in the change of seasons. Father John's Medicine is invaluable as a tonic in the spring. It strengthens the system and drives out the poisonous waste matter—builds up the body. It is this power that has made it so successful in treating colds and throat troubles. No weakening stimulants, morphine or other dangerous drugs.

IS NIERENGARTEN BREAKING?

Speculation As to His Ability to Withstand Ordeal

DRAMATIC MOMENT IN COURT

Mother of Prisoner Appears Unexpectedly At Trial

WAPAKONETA — (Staff Special) — Will Harold Nierengarten, 20, of Lima, charged with the murder of his pal, Joseph Scott Kershaw, 21, also of Lima, while the two were riding southward on a B. & O. freight train, November 20, 1921, stand the severe mental strain he is undergoing as his trial progresses here or will he break down, just as he did before, and confess to the slaying?

IS ACCUSED BREAKING

The crowd of several hundred who watched the opening of the trial at about 2:30 p. m. Tuesday after a jury had been impaneled at 1:45 p. m. considered this as they watched the lad who is charged with the deed, his brow furrowed with wrinkles, sitting at the long table facing the jury of nine men and three women. It appears hard to answer.

At times Nierengarten would straighten up, but never did his eyes look searchingly around at the staring hundreds. Mostly he sat, his right leg crossed over the left, his eyes covered with his right hand.

"He is taking things coolly," declared Sheriff Ewing who sat near the youth and who had led him into the jury room, one hand-cut around one wrist, the end dangling down. The sheriff declared Nierengarten appeared not to be overly concerned, at least in his outward appearances, over the possible outcome of the case.

Those who have followed through noticed a slight change in the boy's mood Tuesday, however. He appeared more worried, his brow was always contracted. Only once did he smile a little. He turned to a group of newspaper men, assembled at a nearby table and nodded a general greeting to them.

PRISONER'S MOTHER APPEARS

The dramatic moment in Tuesday's trial came with the unexpected appearance of his mother, Mrs. Louise Nierengarten, at 2:15 p. m. just as the case was about to be opened before the jury. The mother, wearing a dark felt plush coat and black hat, rushed to her son, weeping and crying aloud, and placed her arm about him.

Silence took complete possession of the crowded courtroom for a minute, as all eyes riveted on the scene.

Young Nierengarten, failing to meet his mother's eyes, buried his head in his hands, for a minute breaking down under the strain. The mother regained her composure and was assisted by another son, Leo, who had escorted her into the courtroom, to a chair just to the right of the accused boy. Not once after that did Nierengarten meet the gaze of his mother. His back hair turned to her, his face half the time early hidden by his hand, he studied the floor until the examination of witnesses began, when he manifested considerable interest in their testimony.

His face was always grim and contracted, tho, at all times. He seldom conferred with his counsel, former Judge C. A. Stueve.

GAS LAW IS HELD CONFISCATORY

Rate Making Not Function, Bench Rules

WASHINGTON — The New York state law of 1906, which provided that gas should be furnished consumers in New York city at a price not in excess of 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet was declared by the supreme court to be confiscatory as to gas furnished during 1918 and 1919.

The opinion, which was unanimous and was delivered by Justice McKeeney in three cases, brought by the attorney general of New York and other state officials against the Consolidated Gas Co., of New York, held that "rate making is no function of the courts and should not be attempted, either directly or indirectly." It stated, however, the decision of the United States district court which held the prescribed rate, "had been confiscatory since Jan. 1, 1918, and would continue to be."

Separate opinions also unanimous, were delivered by Justice McKeeney in the Kings County Lighting Co. and the New York & Queens Gas Co. gas cases. In the former case, Justice McKeeney said, "We are satisfied that the court below reached a correct conclusion, and that none of the points relied upon for reversal are adequate to justify such action."

MARRIED QUARTER CENTURY. COUPLE SEEKING DIVORCE

Suit for divorce has been filed in common pleas court by Mrs. Iva M. Briggs, Spencerville, against her husband, James, to whom she was married 25 years ago. She charges desertion and failure to provide. They have seven children, ranging in age from 23 to 4 years. Sharon Liddle, Lima, has filed suit for divorce from his wife, Mabel Liddle. He charges she failed to perform her household duties. The couple were married 17 years ago and have three children, the eldest of whom is 16 and the youngest 11. Liddle asks custody of the three.

SIDELIGHTS ON MURDER TRIAL

WAPAKONETA — (Staff Special) — Lack of knowledge of a number of persons called for jury service was exposed before the crowded court room while a jury was being impaneled. Two men did not know what capital punishment was. It had to be explained to them. Another, confused, said he believed in capital punishment, but in not having a man killed. The answers amused the crowd, but they did not bring even a smile to the face of Harold Nierengarten, who must prove his innocence of the murder of his pal, Joseph Scott Kershaw, in order to escape the death penalty.

Repeatedly it was thought a jury had been secured, 12 having been passed several times, when the defense would call a recess and then challenge some juror who would be taken from the panel, leaving 11.

Four farmers called at the court house at 6:30 a. m. Tuesday, waiting for the trial to start. The janitor at the building reported. The majority did not appear until 8 a. m.; although this was considerably in advance of the starting time.

While it was variously estimated that the crowd Tuesday afternoon was from 350 to 450, it is said by Wapakoneta citizens that this figure would be almost doubled if room could be afforded the visitors. So many do not get in the small court room that it is needless for others to come and so many stay away.

The big murder case! That is the subject that everyone is talking about in Wapakoneta. It was the basis of discussion at a crowded restaurant downtown at the noon recess, on street corners and in stores. Business is being sacrificed to discuss the trial and its possible outcome.

Three women jurors are serving, the first women to sit on a murder case in Auglaize-co. They are: Miss Emma Easterly, Salem; Miss Stella Wilkins, Noble; and Mrs. Maggie Brewer, Noble.

TWO WOMAN CHAMPIONS-HERO WORSHIP-FINGER-PRINT SIGNATURE - NEWS PHOTOS

MRS. LAURA BENNETT, New York, has issued a challenge to meet any woman of 130 pounds in the squared arena, but no one has accepted it.

MARY JOHNSON, champion woman billiard player of the world, seems likely to retain the title for some time as no one is challenging her.

HERO WORSHIP—"Remember the time Harry Wills shook hands with us?" That will be the question when these kids meet years from now, for they are getting the thrill of their lives in grasping the hand that knocked out Kid Norfolk and is itching to meet Jack Dempsey's jaw.

THE FINGER-PRINT SIGNATURE—The finger print is now recognized as a signature by the Postal Savings Bank. This girl was the first to affix her print to a deposit slip in the Milwaukee postoffice.

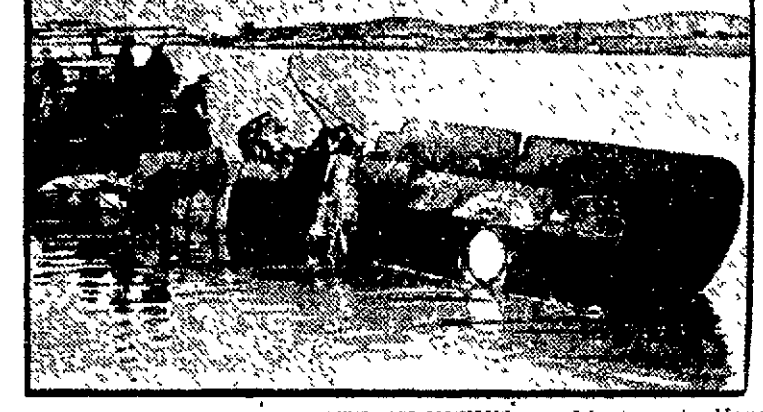

U. P. CHIEF SAILS—W. W. Hawkins, president of the United Press, left on the new S. S. Pan America to visit the U. P. offices in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Santiago, Chile.

END OF 3800-MILE HIKE—Percy J. Hinton, his wife and their daughter, Marguerite, two, snapped as they walked into Philadelphia. That ended a 3800-mile hike from California on which Hinton says he hunted work. He said one man put down his Bible to kick him off the premises.

THREE ESCAPED THIS—Three occupants of a house at Tulsa, Okla., escaped death, although an explosion blew the roof 60 feet away.

ARMY FLIERS ESCAPE DEATH BY INCHES—Lieutenant Harold Beaton and Private Sheridan Cook, of Bolling Field, District of Columbia, are alive today by inches. That is the distance they missed the sea wall of the Anacostia river when their DeHavilland plane fell.

GOVERNOR DAVIS HITS BACK

TAKING advantage of the opportunities afforded him, when invited to speak at assemblies in various parts of the state, Governor Harry L. Davis, as head and shoulders and spokesman for the Republican state administration, is answering, or attempting to answer, its critics.

The Governor has the courage to defend even the reorganization measure, with its emergency attachment, despite the fact that under its application the expense of state has been increased instead of being decreased, as was confidently promised when it was up for passage and which was fervently hoped for by the taxpayers.

A visitor in Allen-co, the guest of the splendid citizens of Gomer and Sugar Creek-tp, Governor Davis defended the acts of the Republican state administration in a clever manner. Whether he will be able to convince the people at large that "all's well and the government at Columbus still lives" remains to be seen.

He very carefully sidestepped any reference to his intentions relative to being a candidate for renomination and reelection, but before setting foot on Allen-co soil this week, he had stated that within two weeks he would make known his future intentions. There is no denying the fact that leaders of his party are hoping Governor Davis will retire to private life. They fear the results if he is again a candidate.

Despite the criticism that he has attracted, Governor Davis personally is a pleasant, genial and likeable personality, with an engaging smile that radiates good fellowship.

COMPOUND INTEREST

IN 1897 George Jones borrowed $100 from Henry R. Stuart. He agreed to pay 10 per cent interest a month.

Stuart sued for the principal of the loan along with accrued interest. He got a judgment in court, at San Jose, for nearly 305 trillions of dollars.

There isn't enough money in the world to pay it.

It's an important incident, tho, illustrating the power of compound interest to bring wealth to the thrifty.

Compound interest is the only universal road to financial independence.

YOUR SOUL

ITALIAN doctors say that a post-mortem examination of Caruso's throat showed that his vocal cords were twice the normal length.

Caruso's lung power also was phenomenal. His lungs were so strong, so energy-creating that he could make the cords of a piano vibrate by merely breathing on them.

"Caruso" say the learned doctors, "was a magnificent singing machine, from head to foot. That explains why he was a master singer."

THE doctors are wrong. Caruso was the greatest singer of all the 1,600,000 people on earth. But, unquestionably, there were thousands of others whose lungs, vocal cords and so on were duplicates of Caruso's. Did you ever hear of them as singers? No.

Without this equipment, Caruso would not have been a great singer.

But the thing that made him a marvel of song was his soul.

Wheel a piano on a stage. Bring out Padrewski. He "can make the piano talk." That is genius. Millions of other piano players can use the same piano and produce only mediocre music.

YOUR body has been defined by philosophers as "the temple of your soul." It is the machine thru which your soul expresses itself.

Using your body as a machine or a fine collection of tools, you can accomplish things that others could not do with the same equipment.

The great driving force of personality is separate from the body.

The body goes back to dust. The mysterious spiritual being—which uses the body to express itself—goes on forever. No dissecting knife, no microscope can explain it.

TOO MANY LAWYERS

THE country has enough lawyers, doesn't need any more, says Chief Justice Taft. Isn't that true of every other line of work? Being overcrowded is an excellent stimulant for any profession or trade. Competition—not enough completely to satisfy the wants of all—keeps every one up on his toes.

Without overcrowding, no spectacular individual success. All men are lazy except when they have competition. Fortunately, most of us have it—more than we can handle.

HAVANA

In the city of Havana where the tropic breezes blow
And the flivvers — called "rod- ingos" — scurry madly to and fro,
There's a bar on every corner and at every bar there stand
Quite a bunch of thirsty Yankees from their own, their native land;

There the cocktail-shaker's busy making "dijetes" and such,
Which are mostly pure Bacardi and which cheer you very much.
And a cocktail costs a quarter and imparts a pleasant glow.
In the city of Havana where the tropic breezes blow.

In the city of Havana hootch and good cigars are cheap
And the bars are always open and the barkeeps never sleep,
And of course it's rather jovous to be drinking as you choose
But I'm glad my native country doesn't legalize the booze.

For along with open barrooms stalks the ugly form of vice
And the nights in "Gav Havana" are not—well, exactly "nice."
For the "high life" which you see there is, I'm thinking, rather low;
In the city of Havana where the tropic breezes blow.

In the city of Havana there are narrow streets and busy,
And the traffic rushes thru them in a way to make you dizzy,
But the Cuban cops are clever and efficient and polite
And there isn't any tangle they can't straighten out all right;
Oh, the Cuban girls are pretty—or a number of them are,
Tho' a winsom Yankee maiden will outclass them mighty far.
And the Cuban men are "masters"—but the girls prefer them so.
In the city of Havana where the tropic breezes blow.

In the city of Havana Sunday is the gala day,
When the Jockey club is crowded and the folks are out to play;
Then the bookies make their harvest as the people gallop by—
Or the frantic fans are cheering at the game of "jai alai".
At the marvelous Casino there's a crowd to dine and dance
And to tempt the goddess fortune at a dozen games of chance
There is beauty in Havana, in the gorgeous tropic flowers,
In the cool white plaster houses that are lovelier than ours.
But I'd hate to keep on living at the speed the Cubans show
In the city of Havana where the tropic breezes blow.

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well
PREVENTING SCARLET FEVER

By DR. R. H. BISHOP

This is the time of year when scarlet fever usually becomes most prevalent.

February and March are the ordinary months when this disease reaches the height of its incidence.

It is therefore up to parents, physicians, teachers, public health nurses and health officers to be especially alert to the danger at this time. Every precaution possible should be taken to avoid epidemics and to prevent the spread of this disease.

The Illinois Health News lists a few simple rules that will materially help in preventing scarlet fever:

ONE. Spend as much time as possible in the open air. This rule applies especially to school children.

TWO. Keep bedrooms well ventilated at night.

THREE. When a child is not well, even tho its condition does not seem serious, call a physician at once.

FOUR. Strictly avoid close contact with other persons who are suffering from colds or other respiratory diseases. This rule also applies especially to school children.

FIVE. Keep sick children completely away from the well ones whether the illness seems—serious or not.

SIX. Maintain the highest sanitary precautions in the sickroom, allowing nothing to come from it without thorough cleansing or disinfection.

SEVEN. Carefully observe all personal hygiene rules.

It is usually easy to determine how you caught scarlet fever or any other disease. After one comes down with an attack, he can remember having visited or played with a friend who wasn't feeling well.

A little sane thinking would lead people to be careful about associating with sick persons, whether the latter are in bed or not.

Mothers must be extremely careful that children are kept away from sick people. Also must they be particularly careful not to allow sick children under their care to play with well children.

Immediate care should be taken in the case of every single cold, running nose or sore throat.

HOW TWO WOMEN ESCAPED OPERATIONS

Doctor Advised Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Happy Results in Both Cases

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"Both of my sides swelled and hurt me so that I could not move or do any of my work. There was heavy pressure and pains through my lower organs and the doctor told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for these troubles. He said I had this one chance, and if the Vegetable Compound did not help me nothing but an operation would. After taking several bottles I felt it was helping me and now I am able to do my own work. If my testimonial will help others I shall be glad for them to read it and hope your Vegetable Compound will do them as much good as it did me." —Mrs. WM. LOCKMAN, 513 N. 4th St., St. Joseph, Mo.

White Plains, N. Y.—"I had such a pain that I could hardly walk and the doctor said that I needed an operation. I was sick for a year before I started taking your medicine and I could not work. I saw your advertisement in a little book and that is how I came to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and the capsules and prescription recommended. I am doing all my work and have gained twenty pounds. I am not 'ing the medicines still, but I feel fine. You have my permission to use this letter for the good of others." —Mrs. MARY MARK, 37 Hamilton Ave., White Plains, N. Y.

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But most of the commoner ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors, or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same.

When disturbing ailments first appear, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ease the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

WHY GROW FAT?

Thousands of women who have had a trim, stylish figure all their lives, began to take on weight in early middle life. And because they have heard of "fat and form" because foolish starvation diets, ridiculous exercises and certain medicines only seem to make their condition worse, they give up all hope and say, "Oh, well, I'd rather be fat, anyway."

Fat that shows—Fat that comes and stays—is not only cumbersome, but may prove dangerous, a decided disadvantage to your necessary activity and pleasure. So why stay that way? No special exercises or diets! No dangerous or sickening medicines. Just a cooling, sparkling, aperient pleasant to take—but quickly and noticeably effective.

Enterprise Drug Store or any good druggist can supply you with a large bottle of Vandell's Salts, Ambition Brand, for 60 cents and will return your money on the first bottle purchased if you are not more than satisfied—Adv.

Mrs. Spencer agrees that the woman's place is in the home just as long as it is necessary to attend to the welfare of her children. "But after that," she says, "the woman's place is in the office, politics, the legislature or wherever she may be of public service."

She plans to campaign thruout the state, taking her two little children with her.

IT IS BEST FOR THE BOWELS

Better Than Pills, Tablets or Liquid Syrup Purgatives

It is astonishing the number of people who have to depend upon some kind of tablets or pills or other laxative agents to keep their bowels in regular order. Most people who suffer with constipation also have serious stomach disorder. Anyone who has either constipation or stomach trouble should go to the nearest drug store and spend a dollar for a bottle of Nerv-Worth and begin taking it at once. They will be surprised at the quick results—the pain, no gripping, but it quickly sweetens the stomach and cleanses the bowels and poisons that cause sour stomach and belching and all in the proper digestion and assimilation of the food.

Mr. R. H. Franklin, Dayton, O., tells us that for years he was so nervous and sleepless for years owing to stomach and bowel trouble that he despaired of ever getting well. But he heard of Nerv-Worth and bought a bottle for a dollar at a nearby drug store and very quickly it eliminated his stomach trouble, he was no longer constipated and he was eating as heartily as when he was a boy. He was 70 years old when he told us this story and was remarkably hale and hearty. You can get Nerv-Worth at any first class drug store for $1.00 a bottle. Try it and if not satisfied with the results of the first bottle the druggist will give you your money back. It is always on sale at the drug stores in this city.

Nerv-Worth is sold and recommended by Hunter's Drug Store, Lima, C. M. Young, Van Wert; Gasson's Drug Store, Lima; Drug Store, Kenton; Powell's Pharmacy, Bellefontaine; Minzel's Dispensary; King & Stallkamp, Delphos.—Adv.

$1.00 PACKAGE OF GENUINE YEAST VITAMINE TABLETS from your druggist today.

If you are thin and emaciated and wish something to help you put on flesh and increase your weight, Yeast Vitamine Tablets should be used in connection with organic Nuxated Iron. Without organic iron, both food and Vitamines are absolutely useless, as your body cannot change inert, lifeless food into living cells and tissue unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood. Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs. This oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood just as fire unites with coal or wood, and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood your food merely passes thru your body without doing you any good.

Arrangements have been made with the druggists of this city to give every reader of this paper a large $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets absolutely free with every purchase of a bottle of Nuxated Iron.—Adv.

Advice For Mothers

Read What This Mother Says
Conneaut, Ohio—"Always during expectancy my back would be so stiff that I could scarcely move without help. I tried various medicines, but not until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did I get relief. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a perfect tonic for the expectant mother, for it not only strengthened me and relieved me of all pain and lameness but I had comparatively no suffering, and my babies were hardy and strong—absolutely perfect—mentally and physically, which I considered due to the fact that the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I took as a tonic, contained no harmful ingredient."—Mrs. Frank Luce, 237 Harbor St.

Perhaps you are planning to "pay back" all your winter social obligations on St. Patrick's Day. It's a delightful time for a party. Coming in Lent, the festivities must performance be informal.

Luncheon, dinner or evening party

use green for the color scheme.
Light the dining table with candles and the wide green bows on each candlestick. White non-drip banquet candles will insure safety to the most exquisite linen. If a pot of shamrock is not procurable use

a low maiden-hair fern for the cen-

THE WRONG FACE

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The jar was half filled with a creamy white substance, and Barry carried it to one of the windows and deposited it upon the sill. Then, drawing the cover of the gas mask from his pocket, together with a small but powerful microscope, he set to examining the finger marks upon it, comparing them to those which, in the faint light, were yet plainly visible in the grease upon the outer side of the jar.

This jar of French cold cream must have belonged to Fay. The finger prints upon it were identical with those upon the gas mask case. The mask had been worn by someone in the room of death on the previous night; the odor of carbon monoxide was proof of that, and the theory that now sprang to his mind was without a flaw. However, reluctantly he entertained it, he was compelled to admit that any other hypothesis would be impossible. The girl was not innocent but merely a superb actress after all!

She must have worn that mask and remained in the room while she replenished her cousin's death.

The slippers, the gas mask, the cold cream jar, the knowledge that the other girl had supplanted her with her former lover—all these, combined with the possible evidence of the little box, which still remained in his pocket, heaped up a sinister proof against Fay Tudor.

Barry paused midway of the back stairs and struck the rail softly with his clenched fist. What a fool he had been! What had been Fay Tudor's exact words, when she mentioned her brother's effects?

"Did I tell you the other day that I went in the locked room where all my belongings, which you so kindly brought home to us, have been placed? I saw his helmet and his gas mask, but there were stains upon it."

Now there had been no stains when he examined it a short time before, but on the case which he reposed in his pocket were several faint but unmistakable traces of dried blood. She could not have detected them in the dimness of the room unless she had taken the cover up in her hands, and he sight of the stains must have revolted her so that she replaced the case unopened.

Someone else must have entered that room during the night before; someone who was careful to leave no traces or finger marks. But who?

Continuing on his way downstairs Barry entered the kitchen, where he found the cook weeping over her preparations for dinner. He beat a hasty retreat to the pantry.

There he discovered pretty Louise, the waitress.

"Louise," he began, setting himself unconcernedly upon the edge of the table, "were there guests last night for dinner?"

"No, sir; just Mr. Clayton, and he's here so often that he seems like one of the family." The words came in a loquacious little rush.

"He and Mrs. Tudor had coffee together out on the porch afterward?"

"Only he and Mrs. Tudor? Didn't the young ladies take coffee?"

"No, sir. Poor Miss Laurel never does, and Miss Fay came back so the others emerged from the dining room.

Fay Tudor caught his eye, and, with a gesture so slight as to be imperceptible to the rest, he motioned toward the drawing-room.

"Did you wish to see me alone?" she asked in a breathless tone.

"Miss Tudor, I understand that you are a sufferer from insomnia; do you ever take anything for it except hot milk?"

"No; that is, not lately."

"But you have taken medicine for it? Powders of some sort?"

A quick light of sudden interest rather than of alarm, sprang into her eyes.

"How did you know?" she asked, then added hastily: "A physician in Paris recommended a sort of powder. They worked like magic, but I discontinued their use more than two months ago because they made my head feel so congested after each dose."

"Did you bring any of them to this country—the powders, I mean?" Barry inquired.

"Yes, I believe I did." There had been a slight pause, but her reply came in the half-bewildered tone of one who had been searching her memory. "I had the prescription refilled again the day before we left Paris."

"How many powders were contained in the prescription?" Barry ignored her query.

"Twelve." She bit her lips and then cried sharply: "The box was untouched when I arrived here. Don't tell me, Sergeant Barry, that it has been tampered with! I— I felt this morning—I must it seemed to me that my head felt just as it used to do when I had taken a dose of the stuff!"

Barry's hand went to his pocket and he drew forth the little box and gave it to her. She seized it eagerly.

"Yes, this is it, of course!" Then she opened it and a wave of astonishment and horror swept over her face. "Why, there are only six here; half of them are gone! If anyone had taken them all they would never have awakened!"

"What would be the effect of three?"

"I don't know; I have never taken more than two, but I fancy that three would produce a slumber more profound even than an anesthetic brings and which would make one sleep until the effects had worn off, and then be very ill afterward. Sergeant Barry, is that what was the matter with me this morning? I told you how dizzy I was and how my head ached. Did someone drug me? I half suspected it when I learned that Laurel had been murdered there, practically beside me, and I had slept so stupidly thru it all."

"I don't know yet," Barry replied adding in a significant tone: "Did your hot milk taste all right last night, Miss Tudor?"

"The hot milk!" she exclaimed. "I don't think that it did, now that you remind me of it. It seems to me that there was a chalky quality in it and the touch of acidity that one sometimes notices in buttermilk—something like fermentation! But Laurel drank it with me! She took more than I. Could those powders have been mixed with it, and killed her?"

"No, it would only have produced a sleep a little more profound than your own," Barry replied. "You may have suffered slightly from your share of it this morning, but I think something else was the matter, too. The symptoms you described to me are identical with those induced by a slight inhalation of the gas which killed your cousin."

"Fay!" Mrs. Tudor's gentle voice sounded from the porch. "My dear, where are you?"

"Coming directly, Aunt Clara." Fay turned to the detective in swift dismay. "Oh, you see that I must just one question more," Barry detained her with a gesture. "I thought that Captain Warren was a stranger to your aunt, as he is to the neighborhood. How does it happen that he should be here tonight?"

"He has offered his services to us, as has Mr. Clayton, to help us thru this dreadful time, and my aunt gladly accepted. The sheriff wants them to go with him tonight on some wild-goose chase after the man who has been lurking about, and that is why they remained to dinner."

"I see. Please do not feel offended, Miss Tudor, at any question I may ask; I think you can help me more than anyone else to discover the truth."

When she had gone he replaced in his pocket the box which the girl had given back to him, and was turning to the rear of the hall when the rustle of a skirt sounded behind him, and, wheeling about, he saw Mrs. Tudor standing in the doorway.

"Sergeant Barry," she said tensely, "you must come where we can talk quietly. I want the case dropped!"

I suppose you came back for a smell of my cake.

Nick turned when he saw the chocolate cake. If there was anything he loved it was cake, and chocolate cake was not to be resisted.

"Oh, come on Nick!" Nancy pulled at his arm.

The red feather in his hand, too, kept bending the other direction, which showed that if he would avoid danger he would keep away from the strange cave and all it contained.

But chocolate cake! Round, high, shining and delicious!

Something in poor Nick's legs seemed to be pushing him back toward the cave. He tried to take a step away, but he had no more will than a terrier on the end of a chain. And there was nothing for Nancy to do but to follow.

"Hello, children," came a voice out of the cave, followed at once by a figure in the form of a gypsy woman dressed in red with a green cap and yellow sash. Her hair was done in long braids wound around her head, and on her neck were so many strings of beads that Nancy couldn't help wondering how she could stand so straight.

"I suppose you came back for a smell of my cake," said Nick, wondering if he were to be offered a slice.

"And so it should," nodded the gypsy woman, smiling, "for dear knows, enough trouble I've had baking it. I've spilled half of the sticky icing on my floor and I can't get it off. I've hurt my finger and I can't hold a cloth."

"Oh," cried kind Nancy. "Can't I do it? I'll clean your floor."

"Then here," cried the gypsy woman, thrusting a large rag into her hand. "Come, I'll lead you to the place."

As she led her away, the Mushroom's note fell to the floor.

Nick stopped to pick it up.

Woolens stay soft and fleecy washed this way, says Carter, maker of knit underwear

THE WILLIAM CARTER COMPANY
Carter's Knit Underwear

Lower Bra Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Gentlemen:

We took several infants' shirts and had them washed in Lux the average number of times a shirt is washed before the baby outgrows it. At the end of these washings the shirts were soft and fleecy and as unshrunk as if washed in water alone.

These tests prove to our entire satisfaction that a mother cannot do better than to wash her baby's clothes in Lux.

The success with Lux is due not merely to its flake form, which makes all rubbing unnecessary, but to the fact that its lather is exceptionally mild and cleansing. A soap or soap flake at all harsh "felts" or shrinks wool.

We are willing to say, without qualification, that Lux will not shrink or injure woolens and we heartily recommend it for laundering them.

HANDSOME SINNER TO BE NEXT MOVIE HERO TYPE

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
THE American woman is tired of the bright young business man the type of lover. Rex Ingram, movie director, says that type is definitely obsolete.
That augurs ill for the millions of youth whose ambition to get ahead in the business of the world is fired by the desire to establish a home. Ingram says, "The American business man is too easily read, too frank, too obvious. To the American woman he is like a book, rather a naive book, which she has read and raved over several times."
"The romantic lover has seized upon her wild, her heart. She doesn't want a man who conducts his battles over a desk top with pen and ink and telephone. She wants instead the duel—and finesse and brilliancy in love-making. This is the heyday of the subtle lover—a dangerous day for the American husband."
Ingram attributes the present vogue of costume pictures to this new attitude of women. They receive the romantic age in which dependence was uncertainty and a dependence on man's greater strength.

"Nowadays a woman couldn't be dependent if she wanted to," says Ingram, "so she goes to the other extreme, achieving an almost masculine contempt for the support of men."
It was along such lines of logic that Ingram decided to film "The Prisoner of Zenda." He believes that it proved to be the most romantic play of the American stage, considering its appeal to feminine hearts. The play contrasts Rudolph Rassendyll, the vigorous, honest fighter, and Rupert of Hentzau, who, like his rapier, is keen, pointed, insinuating.
Ingram holds that a man's courage is heightened rather than harmed by any villainy.
"It is the scintillant sinner who today makes the most decided appeal to women," Ingram declares.
For the part of Rupert of Hentzau in his new film Ingram chose Roman Samanlegos, unknown as a screen actor. He was dancer in a small Los Angeles theatre when he caught the fancy of Ingram. He may prove to be another Valentino.

Faurot—"Mr. Pim Passes By"

Few theatregoers realize the difficulties often encountered by managers in their endeavor to assemble an absolutely perfect cast. This has been accomplished by A. L. Erlanger, in the case of the quaint and extremely entertaining comedy, "Mr. Pim Passes By," coming to the Faurot next Saturday.

It was the producer's aim to send on tour the original New York cast, an absolutely perfect unit of artists, who scored an unqualified success when the play was first produced at the Garrick theater there. The task was not an easy one, for two of the important players had to be released by amicable arrangements from contracts entered into with other managements for the new season. But with Laura Hope Crews, headlining the cast, and the special engagement of Dudley Digges, who created the part of George Marden, as her main support, a really flawless company was organized.

Seats for both matinee and night performances of "Mr. Pim Passes By" are now on sale at the Faurot box office.

of note, gives to the part of King Solomon a quiet dignity and human quality; Little Pat Moore, as David, the son of Sheba and Solomon, is splendid at all times.

The sets, costumes, etc., are magnificent; the mob scenes and the chariot races all show the ability of the director. The engagement ends Saturday night.

again today at the Rialto theatre. Also other attractions.

SEQUEL TO "THE SHEIK"

Now they're going to have a sequel to "The Sheik." It is to be called "Burning Sands." "The Sheik" situation is reversed. A woman goes out into the desert to capture the man she loves. She brings him back. Arthur Weigall, who wrote it, has lived in Egypt and Arabia most of his life. The film will probably be made in California.

Mary Wynn is a niece of Eddie Polo, screen acrobat. She plays in "The Man Who Smiled."

Fred Niblo, who directed "The Three Musketeers," is to direct the screen version of "Blood and Sand."

John S. Robertson, who was to have directed it, did not complete "Spanish Jade" in time to start the new production.

CLOSEUPS

Marcia Manon has been engaged as the "vamp" in "The Masquerader." Guy Bates Post was awfully flimsy as to whom should have the part of Lady Astrupp, and it took him a long time to make a choice. Miss Manon is it, and, one surmises, she will not prove a disappointment.

George Ade is said to be supervising by telegraph a picture being made in Hollywood. The title of the picture is "Our Leading Citizen." Thomas Meighan is the citizen. Mr. Ade is in Florida.

Kathryn Williams, who in real life is Mrs. Charles Eytan, grieves over the death of her son, a high school boy, 16 years old. Our sympathy is extended to her.

Are Your Ankles Too Thick?

Of one hundred women 27 years old, with well proportioned legs, only 11 retain this natural beauty when they have reached the age of 40.

In a single class of 216 girls who were attending one of the well known colleges, there were only 3 who were conceded to have beautiful ankles and calves, though the group as a whole was not judged on the basis of stage standards.

Woman will spend an hour in attempting to beautify her hair, her face, her hands and her dress, yet remain blind to the fact that her ankles and legs are unshapely. Perhaps it is because she thinks that she is powerless to improve them, yet that is one of the great fallacies of the age. Arnold Payard's book, "Developing a Beautiful Ankle and Calf," not only tells you the common causes of unattractive limbs, but shows you just how with but a few minutes' continuous work each day, you can develop to its full perfection the gift that Nature tries to bestow upon every woman. Send a dollar to Arnold Payard, 301 Lafayette St., New York, and the book will be sent you at once. ASD-2

DURING the course of a major league season one sees a lot of peculiar happenings.

No one is in a better position to note these things than the umpires, who are constantly 'filing from team to team.

One thing that struck me as being out of the ordinary last year was the debut made by Pitcher Kolp of the St. Louis Browns.

Wildness is always the prevailing fault of every recruit. This is usually very apparent when they make their debut. Kolp was so different his work stood out.

The recruit got his first chance against the Cleveland team, which had won the world's series the previous year, and were sporting World's Champions across their shirt fronts.

The fame of the Indians didn't seem to worry Kolp in the least, as far as his control was concerned.
Every ball that he threw was either a called strike, a foul strike or a ball at which the batter swung and missed or hit.

Not a single called ball was thrown by Kolp until Joe Sewell, who was the sixth batter in the lineup, faced him. It was one of the most remarkable bits of pitching I have even seen as far as control was concerned.

Of the nine left-handed batters
Bush, Young and Blue are able to shift to the right side of the plate and be effective. However, all three prefer to hit left-handed.

FREAK THINGS CAN HAPPEN IN THE NATIONAL PASTIME

BY BILLY EVANS

FUNNY things can happen on the ball field.
If you have your doubts you only need to take up un-
-ing.

During the 20 years that I have been so engaged I have seen a lot of unusual happenings.

At the close of each season I feel that I have witnessed about every freak play possible. Yet each incoming season discloses something new and unusual.

It has been my experience that practically every freak play in baseball is the result of some player failing to follow the set rules of the game.

Along these lines I well recall a certain important ball game that I was working. It was the last half of the ninth inning, with the visiting team leading, 3 to 2.

Two men were out, there was a runner on first base and the team's best hitter at the bat. The pitcher working for the visiting team had used a motion in throwing to first that the home team argued was a balk.

CALLED MOVE A BALK

In about the third inning I had called a balk on the visiting pitcher.
Balk is made an illegal move and
in the ninth inning the pitcher
once again I loudly shouted "balk,"
and stepped to the side of the plate
as I did so.

The pitcher hearing my call of balk and hoping perhaps to escape

being penalized delivered the ball to the batsman.

If the batsman hadn't offered at the ball nothing out of the ordinary would have happened. The batter seeing it was a cripple elected to swing and hit the ball over the left field fence for a home run.

It seemed to the fans that this hit had won the game for the home team. It was a tough spot for yours truly. I had called a balk and been heard. When a balk is called play suspends, the ball that was hit over the fence meant nothing.

All that I could do was advance
the runner who was on first to second on the called balk. I was forced to make the batter who sent the ball over the fence bat over.

CROWD WAS PEEVED

As is usually the case he fouled out on the next ball pitched, retiring
the side and giving the visiting team
the game.

Naturally I was anything but a favorite with that crowd.

The Lima Gym club, which had considered Dick Loadman, the vet-

as a possible match for Jake Gross on the card here March 31, announced Tuesday night they will bar him.

Loadman was indefinitely sus-

Cleveland, a week ago. The referee stopped the bout in the fourth round. Steps have been instituted by many Ohio rings, it was learned by the commission, to bar him.

The club received a letter from Loadman, asking for the fight here,
and the decision was made by Matchmaker Charley Maxwell when proof of his suspension was obtained.

Maxwell was informed Tuesday night by Frank Cullahan, secretary of the boxing commission, that the club is free to proceed with arrangements. Formality of a meeting to pass on a permit was dispensed with.

(BY BILLY EVANS)

A LOT of major league managers are singing "On the Trail of the Lonesome Southpaw." No big league club considers its pitching staff quite complete unless it boasts a crack southpaw. It is a rather unusual fact that a number of the teams lacked such an individual last year.

As a matter of fact the two leading clubs in the American last year, New York and Cleveland, were minus a consistent left hander. The presence of a crack southpaw on a ball club means much.

It looks as if Tris Speaker of Cleveland would be forced to place his dependence in Walter Mails as far as southpaw pitching is concerned. Walter Mails has the stuff. No southpaw in the game has more on the ball. However, last year Mails was unable to win with consistency.

Several things tended to work against Mails last season. In 1920 he finished the season by winning seven straight for Cleveland. In the world's series with Brooklyn his work was flawless. In the spring a sore arm retarded him. In his early games he lacked control and was unable to win. He certainly should be a far better pitcher in 1921.

Would-Bes Humming

(By HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK — When one William Harrison Dempsey isn't within swinging distance, most of the next-under-heavies, will "stop him" any time they get a couple of listeners.
Bill Brennan, has been knocked out twice by the champion, but he contends he was the victim of an accident twice and that the third time
the accident will bounce back on Dempsey.

WILLS IS MUM

Acting on advice, Harry Wills isn't saying anything but he has plenty of mouth pieces who will picture Dempsey on the floor in about three rounds.

Even Harry Greb will whip the heavyweight king twice a day if he he gets an audience. According to Greb, he whipped teh champ "so badly when he was acting as his sparring partner before the Brennan fight that Dempsey will hardly speak to him now.

GIBBENS A "FREAK"

After spending large parts of many days listening to Dempsey's downfall, it is unusual to find one contender who says he is not the superior of the champion.

Tom Gibbons, who fights Greb here next Monday night, is the "freak." He says that Dempsey is the greatest heavyweight in the ring
and that he doesn't want anything to do with him for at least a year.
"Later, perhaps, but not now," he said.

The St. Paul boy looks to be the best in the group from which Dempsey may have to select his next opponent. It is true that he is practically untied, but it is not his fault.
The fact that his record looks like the roll call at a set-up convention, is a tribute to his ability. The good ones have given him the pass by for two years.

Gibbons looks like a sure winner
by a knockout when he gets Greb in the ring. The Pittsburgh boy is fast, but he can't hit and Gibbons is punching harder than ever before.

JUDGE TOO BUSY TO PLAY GOLF

UNQUESTIONABLY golf is encroaching on the popularity of baseball.

Judge Landis, who is commissioner of baseball, recently resigned
from the federal bench in Chicago.

It was generally supposed that the judge's real reason for knocking Blackstone for a goal was his desire to be able to devote all his time to baseball affairs.

"Golf was the impelling reason why I resigned from the bench," says the judge.

His duties as judge and baseball commissioner kept the judge so busy that he was unable to spend any time on the golf links. Last year he was able to play only three rounds of golf.

The judge found that so little exercise was not sufficient to keep him
in physical and mental trim for his arduous duties.

By eliminating his court work he hopes to get his fill of golf. The judge plays a tolerable game and possesses a dog who has been taught to retrieve lost golf balls.

Judge Landis is certainly an original cuss. When the baseball moguls called to tender him his present job he sent word that he was too busy to talk such things, but they could wait if they desired.

The baseball men waited two hours to offer Judge Landis a $50,- 000 a year job for seven years.

CARDS OF THANKS

IN MEMORY OF LITTLE LUCILLE
Weston who departed this life, 2 years
ago today:
Two years have passed since Lucille,
since you were laid away;
How well do we remember that sad and dreary day.
None know how sad the parting of
what the farewell cost.
But God and his fair angels have rained what we have lost.
Once again we hope to meet you when
the day of life has closed.
Then in heaven we hope to greet you,
where no farewell tears are shed.
MOTHER.

CARD OF THANKS—MAY WE NOT

heretofore thank our neighbors and friends who during the late illness and death of our devoted companion and mother, have so willingly contributed their kindness and service during the trying ordeal. Also to Rev. Bishop for the fitting words of condolence; to the singers for the beautiful music; to the various organizations, both social and religious; to the donors of the beautiful floral tributes, and all who in any way aided us in this, our sad bereavement.
Henry T. Sater and Family.

CARD OF THANKS—PLEASE ACCEPT

our heartfelt thanks for the splendid evidence of sympathy shown during the sudden illness and sudden departure

Thelma; for the kind and loving care of Rev. Walter J. Cole, for the beautiful offerings and for the kind and helpful teachers, classmates and neighbors.
